INNOVATION SPEAKER

Dr. Nido Qubein

Dr. Nido Qubein came to the United States as a teenager with little knowledge of English and only $50 in his pocket. His journey has been an amazing success story. The Biography Channel and CNBC aired his life story titled "A Life of Success and Significance."

As an educator, he is president of High Point University, an undergraduate and graduate institution with 4,300 students from 40 countries. He has authored two dozen books and audio programs distributed worldwide.

As a business leader, he is chairman of the Great Harvest Bread Company with 220 stores in 43 states. He serves on the boards of several national organizations including BB&T (a Fortune 500 company with $185 billion in assets), the La-Z-Boy Corporation (one of the largest and most recognized furniture brands worldwide), and Dots Stores (a chain of fashion boutiques with more than 400 locations across the country).

As a professional speaker, Dr. Qubein has received many distinctions including the Golden Gavel Medal, induction into the International Speaker Hall of Fame, and as the founder of the NSA Foundation in Arizona.

He has been the recipient of many honors including The Ellis Island Medal of Honor (along with four U.S. presidents), The Horatio Alger Award for Distinguished Americans (along with Oprah Winfrey and Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas), the DAR Americanism Medal, the Order of the Long Leaf Pine, Sales and Marketing International's Ambassador of Free Enterprise, Leadership North Carolina Governor's Award, and Citizen of the Year, and Philanthropist of the Year in his home city of High Point, North Carolina.

REGISTRATION INFORMATION

Welcome to Bethune-Cookman University's 2021 Virtual Fall Faculty & Staff Institute under the theme "Innovate and Engage 2.0: Reimagining & Repositioning Teaching and Learning in a Pandemic-Informed Academic World."

The Institute is designed to promote faculty effectiveness and student success by providing opportunities to support the way we teach and the learning variabilities of our students. Realizing that effective pedagogy and student retention go hand in hand, B-CU is committed to ensuring that both our students and faculty have the tools, resources, and support they need to be successful.

This year we are using an online platform to elevate the Institute program.
Registration is required.

Presentation on Cultural Rhetorics

Presenters: Dr. Victor del Hierro, Dr. Sid Dobrin, Dr. Laura Gonzalez, and Dr. Raúl Sánchez - University of Florida, Department of English (Gainesville, FL)

Session Description: This presentation will introduce cultural rhetorics as a framework for teaching writing and rhetoric in ways that honor students' various linguistic, cultural, technological, and disciplinary backgrounds. After a general introduction, panelists will draw upon their research expertise to discuss specific issues. These issues constitute discrete areas of inquiry in English Studies and other disciplines, but they take on a slightly different character within a cultural rhetorics framework. Then, drawing upon their practice, the panelists will discuss how these issues inform the teaching of writing and rhetoric at the undergraduate level.

"Is That Your Final Answer? COVID Pedagogical and Knowledge Acquisition Revelations"

Presenters: Dr. Claudette McFadden, Dr. Albert Hayward II, Prof. Carla Lester, Dr. Irving Robinson, and Dr. Julius John - Bethune-Cookman University (Daytona Beach, FL)

Session Description: "Laid Bare By COVID" - COVID-revealed knowledge gaps and COVID-exacerbated pedagogical challenges loom large as faculty reflect on the start of the 2021-2022 academic year and disciplines' interconnectedness and broad applications too frequently lost on our students. Faculty sharing observations and lessons learned, with university staff identifying resources, are the goals of this faculty-led discussion.

BCU Office of Sponsored Programs and Research- "What do we do and how do we do it: All you need to know about Proposals and Awards"

Presenter: Ms. Mayra Martinez - Bethune-Cookman University (Daytona Beach, FL)

Session Description: This presentation will give insight into the Office of Sponsored Programs and Research processes that provide support to faculty. It will address ways to search for funding opportunities, the resources needed to successfully complete proposal submissions, and grant management from its inception until close-out.

You Only Live Once (YOLO): Protect Your Mind-Heart-Body

Presenter: Dr. Susan M. Salahshor - Ithaca College (Ithaca, NY)

Session Description: The intersection of the pandemic and social injustice has led to increased attention on mental wellness and the importance of taking care of our Mind-Heart-Body. In this session, we will focus on how we reframe our minds and body to manage stress and avoid burnout in higher education while supporting our students.

Panopto Lecture Capturing Training

Presenter: Mr. Jay Minster - Panopto Lecture Capturing (Seattle, WA)

Session Description: Panopto is a lecture capture tool that instructors can use to record and publish presentations online. This workshop will provide faculty with three levels - Beginner, Intermediate and Advanced features of Panopto and how to use them in your courses.

An Innovative Model for In-Depth, Entrepreneurial, and Sustainable Faculty Research Agendas

Presenters: Dr. James Osler II, and Dr. Phillip Mutisya - North Carolina Central University (Durham, NC)

Session Description: The presentation will provide a novel, innovative, and entrepreneurial research model that is viable, reliable, sustainable, and most of all continuous. The information that will be highlighted within the presentation is backed and grounded by years of published research that highlights the overall utility of the research agenda supporting methodology. The model that will be introduced enables faculty as novel research investigators to create dynamic research agendas based on their unique disciplines and areas of preferred expertise. The methodologies and procedures that are covered will allow faculty to extend their existing research agendas or create new and novel ones that can be expanded to aid with tenure and promotion both now and in the future.

5 Easy Ways to Incorporate Writing in Classes

Presenter: Dr. Morgan Gresham - University of South Florida (St. Petersburg, FL)

Session Description: Extensive research shows that students who practice writing to learn activities in content classes improve both their conceptual understanding of the material as well as their self-efficacy toward such tasks. I will describe 5 easy ways that faculty members can incorporate writing in their courses. By the end of this session, faculty participants will walk away with different kinds of writing assignments that do not increase faculty workload, but do improve student-teacher-material connections.

Faculty Role in Student Retention

Presenter: Dr. Carl Moore - University of the District of Columbia (Washington, D.C.)

Session Description: Faculty have the opportunity to impact student success through advising sessions and as the instructor. Both of which are critical touch points for student success in their life cycle at the institution. During this workshop we will discuss nuances of these roles and explore high impact practices that promote student success. Join us to share your wisdom and learn from colleagues.

Sharing Discoveries About Remote Learning

Presenter: Dr. Linda Scola - Bethune-Cookman University (Daytona Beach, FL)

Session Description: The culture shock of creating and implementing new pedagogical strategies due to being compelled to teach remotely undoubtedly resulted in many innovative techniques. This roundtable is an invitation to share newfound discoveries, tips, skills, and “secrets” learned about Zoom, Canvas, student engagement, and any other topics relative to remote teaching.

The 2.0 Effect: The power of tools and modeling to ENHANCE the learning experience

Presenters: Dr. Morris Thomas, and Ms. Cindy Philpot - Howard University (Washington, D.C.)

Session Description: In this session participants will be introduced to several technological tools that provide alternatives to traditional instruction and are appropriate for any instructional modality. Appropriately leveraging these tools provides faculty and learners alike the flexibility and agility to ensure academic continuity and excellence despite unforeseen occurrences, e.g., the Covid-19 pandemic. Participants will be introduced to the instructional dynamics of the ENHANCE (Engage, Navigate, Highlight, Assessment, Network, Connect, and Edutain) Learning Model and practice utilizing some of the technology tools presented. Participants will leave this interactive session with the information needed to incorporate the technology tools and instructional best practices for adaptable and rich learning experiences.

The Role of the Public Academic in the Age of Social Media Troll Culture

Presenter: Prof. William Rodriguez - Bethune-Cookman University (Daytona Beach, FL)

Session Description: In an age where discourse in the public square (especially on social media) has been dominated by a troll culture, and where definitions of truth have been turned upside down, we are left with an important question: what (if any) is the role of a public theologian/intellectual?

Course Accessibility: Why and How

Presenters: Ms. Laura Jervis and Ms. Stephanie Richardson - University of Florida (Gainesville, FL)

Session Description: Considering accessibility and the diverse needs of learners is an essential part of course development, and incorporating best practices into any course with a digital component is best done from the beginning. This workshop will explain Universal Design for Learning (UDL) and introduce you to the accessibility tool Ally in Canvas. Additionally, you will see examples of best practices for how to incorporate general accessibility principles.

Enjoy Learning: Engaging Students with Gamification

Presenters: Dr. Mai P Trinh and Dr. Rachel Reed - Arizona State University (Tempe, AZ)

Session Description: Gamification is a powerful way to engage students in their learning processes. In this PDW, we will address the main design principles in gamifying a class. Specific examples in a gamified master-level statistics course will show how gamification can turn a typically dreadful topic into "fun." Participants will walk away with a rough plan and a to-do list to deploy in their own classrooms.

Engaging ALL Students

Presenter: Dr. Carl Moore - University of the District of Columbia (Washington, D.C.)

Session Description: Student learning preferences are as individual and unique as a fingerprint. Effective teaching it's not only rooted in differentiating Instruction but being able to individualize learning to the greatest possible extent. This workshop will explore ways that instructors can meet the neurodiverse needs of learners in their classrooms to enhance the promotion of course learning objectives.

The OER (Open Education Resources) - Affordable Learning Solutions (AL$) Pilot Project

Presenters: Dr. Clarissa West-White, Dr. Nichole Jones, and Dr. Kideste Yusef - Bethune-Cookman University (Daytona Beach, FL) and Dr. Effua Ampadu-Moss, HBCU-OER Director - Tennessee State University (Nashville, TN)

Session Description: Bethune-Cookman University serves as an OER-AL$ Hub and received funding from Tennessee State University and the California System Initiative of MERLOT OER – Affordable Learning Solutions with support of The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation to retool graduate courses. This section is Part I of a two-part presentation that shares lessons learned from inception to implementation (Part II will be presented during the Spring Faculty Institute). Faculty representatives will provide insight into the processes, decisions and available solutions to assist in reducing the price of courses and creating their own textbooks.

Game Meets Game

Presenter: Ms. Monica Hawkins - Founder & CEO of Professional Pipeline Development Group (PPDG)

Session Description: Against this backdrop of grief, trauma, instability, and healing and recovery, the ability to imagine something that does not yet exist is one of the most needed yet under-appreciated yet important management and leadership skills today and will be going forward. It's time to close the digital divide and offer STEAM-immersive applied learning experiences and industry-standard holistic career development curriculum for students who game, create, and ideate across learning disciplines. "Game Meets Game" provides employers, colleges, and universities with a turn-key solution and a roadmap to develop the architecture for an Innovation Hub that positions "ready-now" talent for competition across the globe.

Finding Your Purpose in 15 Minutes

Presenter: Derrick Drakeford, Ph.D. - Drakeford, Scott, & Associates LLC (Durham, NC)

Session Description: What is it about those people who perform a higher level of service with care and a deep sense of meaning? You can't put your finger on it, but you can tell when a nurse sees his or her work as deeply connected to their meaning in life. You can tell when a teacher or coach goes above and beyond to pull greatness out of you that you did not even know you had. That indescribable quality that raises their work to the next level is purpose. It involves the commitment of body, mind, and spirit to their work, it doesn't make the work easier it makes it more joyful, which allows the work to be less laborious and more like a natural flow. Like water running off a duck's back, the work becomes effortless and natural. This is the goal of this presentation, to make your work purposeful, effortless, and organic.
